

The toolkit can and does make a difference when used effectively

I love the thought of using the day in the life and what a child needs to really look more closely at the child themselves and dive deeper. Fantastic tools.

Toolkit can be used to identify strengths as well as need

Very impactful case studies

Toolkit is really useful and the case studies highlight this

Great set of resources

Very informative and to the point

Fantastic resources - the day in the life really will focus my thoughts

Refreshed awareness of what is accessible to use

Very valuable and useful tools

The strategy is real and can be useful for the families we support

It creates a common understanding across professional groups

Great case studies, really lovely to hear such a success story

Found this really helpful, in thinking about how the neglect toolkit can be used practically with families but also to evidence risk and neglect as well as supporting families

Really useful for families we support
